

...in the air and skillful, delicate piloting brought the Bremen to the runway again. It rushed almost the whole length of the concrete with its load of 7,000 pounds and then 25 yards from the end, gracefully left the earth. Immediately all hands went to work on the Europa. It was but a moment until the propeller was started and soon the engine was thundering. The blocks of wood under the front wheels and rear wheel were removed and the Europa, without a single bump, leaped into the air. Its extra wheel whirling along the path.

Speed Into Dying Sun.
Both planes sped into the dying sun and, without circling over Dessau, started northward. In a few minutes they were out of sight.

Although the aviators originally had intended to go by way of Holland, weather reports from Hamburg, just before they took off, caused Junkers officials to alter their plan and send the planes by the northern route, to Bremen, Heligoland, Scotland, the Orkney Islands, and Cape Race, Newfoundland. The meteorological report showed the more southerly route to be more stormy.

Laugh at Landing.
No weeping farewells marked the start of the aviators. They laughingly kissed their wives and relatives good-bye, said "Auf Wiedersehen" ("see you soon"), shook hands all around, and went to the aviation field. None but themselves, their assistants, a few officials of the German government, the American consul, and radio operators were allowed within 1,000 feet of the runway.

Every sound, every act of the start was reported throughout Germany by radio. Millions heard the men start the propellers. Millions heard both planes roar down the runway. The councilor of Brandenburg, representing President von Hindenburg, shook the hand of the inventor of the planes, Prof. Junkers, and millions, through the radio, heard him say, "You have done your best to make the start successful, professor; the future rests with God."

Message to Nungesser's Mother.
Before climbing into their planes the aviators had left a telegram for Mrs. Nungesser, mother of the French aviator who was lost in an attempt to fly from Paris to New York, which was dispatched to her tonight.

The message read: "In the path of the White Bird we remember the two French heroes, Capt. Charles Nungesser and Francis Coll, and we send our sincerest respects to Capt. Nungesser's mother."

Details of Planes.
DESSAU, Aug. 14.—(P)—The planes Europa and Bremen are types of the Junkers W-33 models. They are equipped with 12 motors and have 210 horse power each. They are low wing airplanes, each weighing 3,800 kilograms, of which 3,600 kilograms consists of gasoline. The weight of each passenger is calculated on the basis of 75 kilograms. (A kilogram equals approximately 2.2 pounds.) The consumption of fuel varies between thirty-eight and seventy kilograms hourly, according to the speed maintained.

[Neither plane carries radio sending apparatus.]

Koennecke May Hop Today.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COLOGNE, Germany, Aug. 14.—"I will meet them in New York," Pilot Otto Koennecke told the Tribune correspondent who greeted him as he descended from a trial flight in his biplane the Germania, with the information that his rivals, the Junkers pilots, had left this evening.

"I wish them every success," said the German ace, "I am sorry I could not start, but I never intended to race them. I hope to be able to leave tomorrow evening if the morning's tests are as satisfactory as today's."

Paris Airmen Pessimistic.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Reports of the hop off of the Junkers flyers for America were viewed pessimistically by French aviators tonight. They predict tragedy to the Bremen on account of the stormy condition over the Atlantic.

Charles A. Levine was loudly cheered.

The map shows the intended route of the German flyers to the United States. The Europa, which has been forced down at Bremen was to have landed at New York. The pilots of the Bremen plan to fly on to Chicago. The Bremen, at latest reports, passed over Dublin.

by the crowd gathered around the hangar where his plane, the Columbia, was resting this afternoon. Eager on by friends of his pilot, Maurice Drouhin, the crowd hurried in to the American when he appeared on the flying field. Levine said his damaged propeller would soon be repaired. However, his flight is uncertain because of the weather.

CHEERED BY U. S. ENVOY

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 14.—(P)—"We have firm confidence we shall succeed."

"Signed Edmund. Ristice, Koeh, Loose."

This was the parting statement of the German aviators before starting their trans-Atlantic flight.

Other leading personages connected with the flight also took occasion to express their hopes and expectations of Germany's bid for the blue ribbon of the air.

U. S. Envoy Sends Message.

Jacob Gould Schurman, American ambassador to Germany, sent a message:

"Best wishes for success, which I confidently anticipate. The Junkers planes have demonstrated their excellence and the aviators are splendid fellows, masters in the art of flying. In the trans-oceanic direction flight from east to west the task is greater than in the reverse direction. May the winds of heaven favor them and all the elements be propitious."

"When the German aviators have reached their desired haven in America they will receive a great and cordial welcome. They will be the objects of American hospitality and American friendship for the German

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Convinced of the futility of light novels and to fulfill a vow to the Virgin Mary, Jean Genbach, a young Parisian author, burned a dozen copies of his book, "Satan in Paris," in the middle of the square in front of Notre-Dame cathedral today. A crowd of American tourists visiting the famous church looked on in amazement as the flames consumed the pile of volumes.

M. Genbach formerly was a monk. Tiring of the monastery, he went to Paris and wrote the Satanic novel. A few days ago he had a narrow escape from drowning in the Mediterranean. He attributes this to the Virgin Mary's aid and made a vow to destroy his books.

LINDY RELAXES; GOES SWIMMING AND PLAYS BALL

Escapes Crowds to Enjoy
Himself in Winnetka.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, his press representative, his friends and his family yesterday to keep America's most famous young man out of the public eye.

From the time the New York-Park Express rose from his bed in the Stevens hotel until late last night when he went back to it crowds that gathered at every point where he was expected were held at a distance and efforts were made to prevent his admirers getting a glimpse of him.

So the colonel, as he had wished, had a day of comparative rest and relaxation. After a luncheon at the Belmont hotel, given by Mr. and Mrs. William P. MacCracken, he went to the estate of Frederick Scott at 175 Sheridan road, Winnetka, and passed the afternoon swimming in an outdoor pool and playing baseball with other guests of Mr. Scott.

Swims Crowded Before Hotel.
Then with Chief of Police W. M. Harrison of Winnetka leading a motorcade escort he was taken to the home of Edward P. Price, at 329 Hill road, Winnetka, where he was a dinner guest. Late in the evening he slipped back to the Stevens hotel, dodged into a side entrance to evade a crowd that waited him in front, and retired to his room.

There he was joined by half a dozen of his old friends, aviators from the government mail service and the commercial fields near Chicago. They talked shop for an hour or more, with Col. Lindbergh clad in pajamas and holding his opinions from his perch on the bed.

Some time this morning—the time has not been definitely fixed—the transatlantic flyer is to take off from the municipal air field and fly to Springfield. On the way he will deviate from his course to go over the crowds at the Central States fair in Aurora.

At the Los Angeles Hotel.
The next morning, he and Mr. MacCracken, who is assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aviation, are scheduled to breakfast with Maj. E. C. Moseley, vice president of the Western Air Express, and William M. Henry, chairman of the air transportation committee of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. The views of the colonel and Mr. MacCracken on the subject of a Los Angeles airport are to be sought.

During his day of rest Col. Lindbergh was so eager to get away from the city of conquering hero that he avoided instructions to guests at the Scott residence.

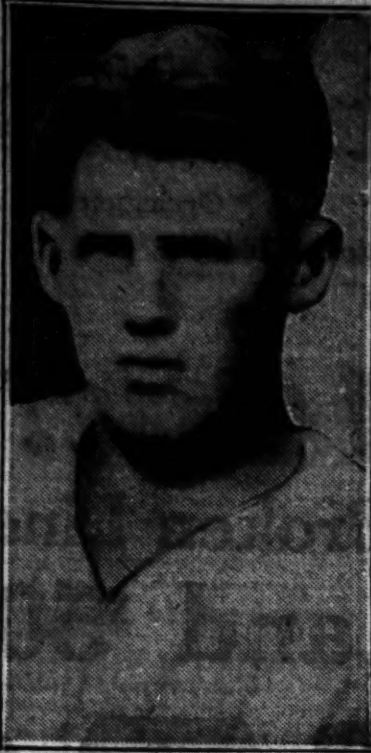

At one time in the afternoon Mr. Scott with two women approached and he introduced them to the flyer. When the women attempted to question him, however, he halted them with a smile. "No personal interviews, please," he said.

Enjoys Swim and Ball Game.
But he apparently took great pleasure in swimming and in joining the game of ball that was suggested by Donald and Edward Wells. Sides were chosen and the colonel proved that he was more than a fair tosser.

D. R. Kayhoe, secretary of his tour, was active in keeping the public from a sight of the air hero. As the party left the Scott estate for the Price home, a crowd of several thousand, building several hundred children, had gathered outside the Scott gates. At the automobile in which Col. Lindbergh rode passed them. Kayhoe drew down the curtains and shut him from sight. Several mothers reported that their children wept at this.

Deer Denies Illness Report.
Reports that the constant strain of appearing before crowds had undermined the constitution of the iron-willed flyer were denied by Dr. William P. MacCracken Sr., father of the assistant secretary of the commerce. After examining Col. Lindbergh yesterday.

AIRPLANE EXPLODES; PILOT AND PASSENGER DIE IN OHIO RIVER

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 14.—(U.P.)—Two men were killed when their airplane fell into the Ohio river at Legionsville late today.

The pilot was identified as George W. Roth of Monaca. The other victim, a passenger, has not been identified.

Witnesses said the plane had exploded in midair, the explosion ripping away the plane's wing. A moment later the plane, safe, nose down, fell several hundred feet into the river.

The two victims were found strapped to their seats. Neither apparently had had time to free himself. The bodies were removed to New Brighton.

Today, he announced that he was in perfect physical condition.

The dinner at the Price home was attended, among others, by Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. MacCracken, Edward Waller, Alexander A. Anderson, and Arthur C. Sullivan. Chief of Police Peterson reported that while they dined a constant procession of automobiles passed, with the occupants craning their necks at the house in the hope of seeing the hero. Many used opera glasses.

Included in those at the MacCracken luncheon were: Max Simon Lewis, Edward Waller, Alexander A. Anderson, and Arthur C. Sullivan. Chief of Police Peterson reported that while they dined a constant procession of automobiles passed, with the occupants craning their necks at the house in the hope of seeing the hero. Many used opera glasses.

FIGHT DUEL AND

Grenada, Miss., Aug. 14.—(U.P.)—A shotgun duel, the aftermath of a county election in which E. R. Thomas, 55, was an unsuccessful candidate for district supervisor, resulted in the death of Thomas and the escape of Mike Thomas, his nephew and alleged slayer today.

When Mike Thomas visited his uncle, the elder man accused the younger of not voting for him. An argument followed and the two agreed to fight a duel. Mike had no weapon, but went to a nearby farmhouse and borrowed one.

He returned to find he had no ammunition. His uncle had two shotgun shells and divided with him. The pair walked sixty yards from the house and opened fire on each other. Mike fled when his uncle fell mortally wounded.

CHICAGO AND N. Y. READY TO GREET GERMAN AIRMEN

Bremen May Reach Here
Late Tomorrow.

Chicago formed hasty plans last night to welcome the Junker plane, Bremen, in case Capt. Herman Koehl and his crew are successful in their attempt to make a nonstop flight from Dessau, Germany, to this city, a distance of 4,100 miles.

The Bremen may be expected some time Tuesday evening if no mishaps occur. It will almost certainly be dark when the plane nears the end of its long journey, pilots agreed, and the only landing field in the vicinity of Chicago which is lighted at night is the Checkerboard field at Maywood.

Air mail pilots asserted that the pilot of the Bremen could not miss the field, which has beacon lights and ground lights. In addition, rockets are sent up at regular intervals. Five air mail planes arrive and leave the field during the night, bound from and to New York, Dallas, Minneapolis, Omaha, and other cities.

Chicagoans Show Interest.
Chicago will stage a celebration if the Bremen arrives which will make the Paris demonstration given Lindbergh seem tame in comparison.

Mayor Thompson declared: "I'll make arrangements to have an official welcoming committee but the whole city itself will probably be there."

That his prediction will come true appears likely. Even before news papers had appeared on the street last night giving details of the flight, queries were pouring into the Tribune in regard to the probable landing field to be used by the Bremen if it reaches its destination.

New York Prepares.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
New York, Aug. 14.—News that the two German Junker planes, Europe and Bremen, had taken off from Dessau, Germany, for America was the signal today for preparations at Mitchell field, Long Island, for their reception.

While cables announced that the plane Bremen, following the forced landing of the Europe, would endeavor to keep on, with Chicago as its destination, it was generally felt that the slowness of the westward passage would force it to land on Long Island and that at the most it could not go much farther than Philadelphia.

The airman are expected here about 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Formal reception to the aviators of the Bremen, if they reach here, will be given by the mayor's committee for reception to distinguished guests and the Von Steuben society. David Meyer, chairman of the New York state council of the society, has arranged for a welcoming banquet for the flyers Thursday evening at the Hotel Astor.

DISAPPEARS

DR. THOMAS W. SALMON.
Middletown, Conn., Aug. 14.—(U.P.)

Four coast guard cutters and a detachment of state troopers are searching for Dr. Thomas W. Salmon, 55, professor of psychiatry at Columbia university and internationally known neuro-psychiatrist, who is reported missing from his yacht off the town of Westbrook in Long Island sound.

Dr. Salmon is believed to have fallen overboard while sounding for depth.

He was alone on the yacht at the time of his disappearance. His companion, Dr. Dana Atchley, and a yacht tender had gone ashore for gasoline.

When Dr. Atchley and the tender returned they could find no trace of Dr. Salmon. The boat had drifted almost two miles from the spot where they had left it. The sounding line, tangled in the aft gear, was wet, leading to the belief that Dr. Salmon had been "heaving the lead." His shoes were on the yacht.

SEVEN QUALIFY FOR TOMORROW'S SEA DERBY START

Municipal Airport, Oakland, Cal., Aug. 14.—(U.P.)—Nine airplanes glided in the sun here today on dress parade before thousands of admirers as pilots and navigators groomed their entries for the $25,000 prize Dole Derby to Honolulu scheduled to go to the post at noon Tuesday.

The day was a busy one for federal inspectors, two planes having been added to the list of official qualifiers for the race. They were Martin Jensen's Honolulu entry in the race, which passed both his lead and his navigation tests. Jensen was assigned seventh starting place in the race, being noosed out by Charles W. Parkhurst, flying the "Air King," backed by citizens of Peoria, Ill., who qualified a few minutes before for sixth place.

Test Radio Signals.
The "Oklahoma," flown by Bennett Griffin, which will be the first starter in the race, went into the air today to test the shore radio beacon signals, which will stab the airway of the Honolulu flight with signals for the protection of entrants in the race. Norman Goddard's "El Encanto," a monoplane, scheduled to go into the race as second starter, also took to the air to test the power of the radio compass testing station.

Cholera Raging in Persia

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
TEHRAN, Aug. 14.—Native doctors are rushing south from here to fight the cholera epidemic raging in the interior of Persia. The Gulf ports and larger river towns have been ministered to by the sanitation department, and deaths in these are few. No American or European deaths are reported.

List of Those Qualified.
The seven entrants who have qualified and their positions are:
1. Bennett Griffin's monoplane Oklahoma.
2. Norman Goddard, San Diego monoplane.
3. Livingston C. Irving, Berkeley war ace, flying a Bessie monoplane.
4. Jack Frost, flying the San Francisco Examiner's cigar-shaped "Golden Eagle."

5. J. A. Follis's Detroit monoplane, which will carry Miss Mildred Dornas, Michigan school teacher.
6. Charles W. Parkhurst, in the "Air King," Peoria, Ill.
7. Martin Jensen, in a Bessie monoplane.

Capt. William F. Ryan, flying the "Duke Spirit," a monoplane, and Arthur C. Goebel, piloting the monoplane "Woolaroo," have the navigation tests before them tomorrow. If they pass before noon, the time limit for qualifiers, the list of starters will be nine; otherwise the starters will be fixed at seven.

7. Martin Jensen, in a Bessie monoplane.

Capt. William F. Ryan, flying the "Duke Spirit," a monoplane, and Arthur C. Goebel, piloting the monoplane "Woolaroo," have the navigation tests before them tomorrow. If they pass before noon, the time limit for qualifiers, the list of starters will be nine; otherwise the starters will be fixed at seven.

The "Oklahoma," flown by Bennett Griffin, which will be the first starter in the race, went into the air today to test the shore radio beacon signals, which will stab the airway of the Honolulu flight with signals for the protection of entrants in the race. Norman Goddard's "El Encanto," a monoplane, scheduled to go into the race as second starter, also took to the air to test the power of the radio compass testing station.

SEVEN QUALIFY FOR TOMORROW'S SEA DERBY START

Municipal Airport, Oakland, Cal., Aug. 14.—(U.P.)—Nine airplanes glided in the sun here today on dress parade before thousands of admirers as pilots and navigators groomed their entries for the $25,000 prize Dole Derby to Honolulu scheduled to go to the post at noon Tuesday.

The day was a busy one for federal inspectors, two planes having been added to the list of official qualifiers for the race. They were Martin Jensen's Honolulu entry in the race, which passed both his lead and his navigation tests. Jensen was assigned seventh starting place in the race, being noosed out by Charles W. Parkhurst, flying the "Air King," backed by citizens of Peoria, Ill., who qualified a few minutes before for sixth place.

Test Radio Signals.
The "Oklahoma," flown by Bennett Griffin, which will be the first starter in the race, went into the air today to test the shore radio beacon signals, which will stab the airway of the Honolulu flight with signals for the protection of entrants in the race. Norman Goddard's "El Encanto," a monoplane, scheduled to go into the race as second starter, also took to the air to test the power of the radio compass testing station.

HOPE OF BIG TAX SLASH BY NEXT CONGRESS SLIM

Farm Aid, Defense Needs to Cut Into Surplus.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Tax reduction will have to take its chances with farm relief legislation in the next congress, unless the estimates of the treasury surplus quoted here by Herbert M. Lord, director of the budget, are found erroneous.

Usually, treasury surplus estimates are too conservative. It is believed a way will be found to appropriate money for farm relief, to make the other necessary appropriations for the government, including that for national defense, and have something left over for tax reduction.

Problems in Mathematics.
The budget estimate which Mr. Lord brought to President Coolidge presents a problem in mathematics. The estimate assumes a surplus of $238,000,000 for the current year and $214,000,000 for the year following. The government likes to have on hand a liquid fund of at least $100,000,000. That reduces the available surplus from which tax reduction is to be made to $238,000,000.

The tentative farm relief legislation under consideration calls for an appropriation of $300,000,000, alone. The problem in mathematics, therefore, becomes one of trying to find money to make appropriations and to reduce taxes.

The budget estimate, as it has been roughly sketched here by Gen. Lord, contains, among other things, the administration answer to Great Britain for the failure of the Geneva naval conference. It proposes to go ahead with naval building authorized by congress and to carry out the plans of the general board adopted prior to the Geneva meeting.

Largest Since War.

There is also approved the five year building program for aircraft designed to give the United States the leading place in the air. It contemplates one of the greatest air armadas ever launched. It proposes to give the navy 1,300 up to date planes, regardless of the number of obsolete planes still in the service, and there will be accorded to the army 1,800 planes. One huge dirigible is under contemplation.

Although the exact figures are not given, the appropriation for national defense will be the largest made since the war.

Heretofore, it has been estimated that the total cut in taxes which would be possible this winter would be $200,000,000. That is just a little less than the total estimated surplus for the current year out of which the cut would be made. Under the circumstances it seems more than likely that the administration will seek to complete the program of tax reform, rather than indulging in a program of tax reduction.

There are many readjustments of rates which it is believed would more fully meet the requirements of permanent tax legislation. Among them are readjustments of the corporation taxes, the reduction of taxes on incomes ranging from $50,000 to $75,000 and the elimination of the inheritance tax.

Not Committed to Figure.

The President has never committed himself to a $200,000,000 tax cut this year. He has anticipated it would be possible to make some tax reduction, but has cautiously refrained from stating the figure. He has always insisted that it would be necessary to see what the future would bring forth.

It has already brought forth the necessity for unusual expenditures for food relief and for the purposes of national defense, while the probability of requiring an appropriation for farm relief has been a continuing situation.

It is hoped that the expectation of revenue is underestimated. No expert can foresee exactly the amount of business which the country will do, an amount that will reflect itself in the flood of dollars pouring into the treasury.

SURPLUSES DUE TO BUDGET

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Credit for the accumulation of annual surpluses during the last few years is given to the budget system in the annual report of H. M. Lord, director of budget, made public today.

"The practical ratification by congress of the President's budget estimates," says Mr. Lord, "continued executive pressure for economy and efficiency in business operations of the government, the coordination of the government's business through the chief coordinator, the area coordinators, the coordinating board, and the federal business associations, and the general cooperation by the heads of departments and independent establishments in carrying into effect the financial program of the President are factors, which, notwithstanding the normal growth of federal business, are largely responsible for keeping expenditures down and for closing each fiscal year since the inauguration of the budget system with a substantial surplus of receipts over expenditures. The fiscal year 1927 was closed with a surplus of $635,809,921, as compared with a surplus of $377,767,816 for 1926.

$200,000,000 Over Estimate.

The surplus of the last fiscal year, the report states, was more than $200,000,000 in excess of the budget bureau's estimate which was given at the time the 1927 budget was submitted to congress.

"In the budget for 1927, transmitted Dec. 7, 1926, it was estimated that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, receipts would be $2,524,630,203; expenditures, $1,494,222,308, and the surplus, $1,030,407,895," says Mr. Lord. "The actual results were: Receipts, $1,429,394,441; expenditures, $1,493,584,619; and surplus, $635,809,921. The increase of $664,544,288 in actual receipts over the budget estimates of receipts, and the decrease of $637,789 in actual expenditures under the budget estimate of expenditures accounts for the increase of $101,502,277 in the actual surplus over the estimated surplus."

Comparison by Years.

Mr. Lord compares receipts and expenditures of the fiscal year 1927 with those for the previous year, showing increases and decreases in different items.

"The total of ordinary receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927, was $4,129,394,441, as compared with $3,967,725,699 for 1926, an increase of $161,668,742, due to net increase of $28,000,339 in customs receipts, $12,774,943 in internal revenue receipts, $11,481,315 in foreign debt repayments, $83,002,632 in sales of railroad securities, $25,906,897 in sales of federal farm loan bonds and other securities, and $10,923,440 in other miscellaneous receipts," says Mr. Lord. "On the other hand, the total of ordinary expenditures, including public debt retirement required to be made from ordinary receipts and excluding expenditure for the postal service from postal revenues, was $2,493,584,619 for the fiscal year 1927, as compared with $2,594,987,478 for 1926, a net decrease of $101,402,859 due to decrease of $12,543,595 in the postal deduction, $44,915,125 in interest on public debt, $73,235,063 in customs and internal revenue refunds, $11,540,987 in civil service retirement fund investments, which, under present procedure, appear under general expenditures and $23,105,062 in other miscellaneous items, which decreases are in part offset by increases of $21,121,619 in general expenditures, $9,025,627 in government life insurance fund investments, and $22,178,794 in public debt retirements."

WANTED

A "Hard-Boiled" Sales Manager Who Dislikes Mahogany Furniture

One of the largest manufacturers in the United States is looking for a man to manage the sales of a heavily advertised line moving chiefly through the drug trade.

Knowledge of the drug trade is not essential—but guts are! This is not a desk job. The man must travel. He will have six sales districts to oversee, and a force of fifty salesmen scattered from New York to California. Further, if he is to be general in this man's army he has to know the manual of arms. We insist that he go on the street and sell, store to store, until he knows the kinks in this particular line; we insist also that he manage the sales district until he knows what our sales force needs in training, stimulus and leadership.

But inside of ninety days, if he is the man we want with any real experience in handling men, he can have the entire direction of sales.

We are trying to make it clear that this is no feet-on-the-desk job. The man who takes the job must be willing to work—and must know how to work. He may be a sales manager now—he may be a successful district manager who has proved that he can handle men and territory. There is a big job to be done—a hard one—and a reward that matches the job.

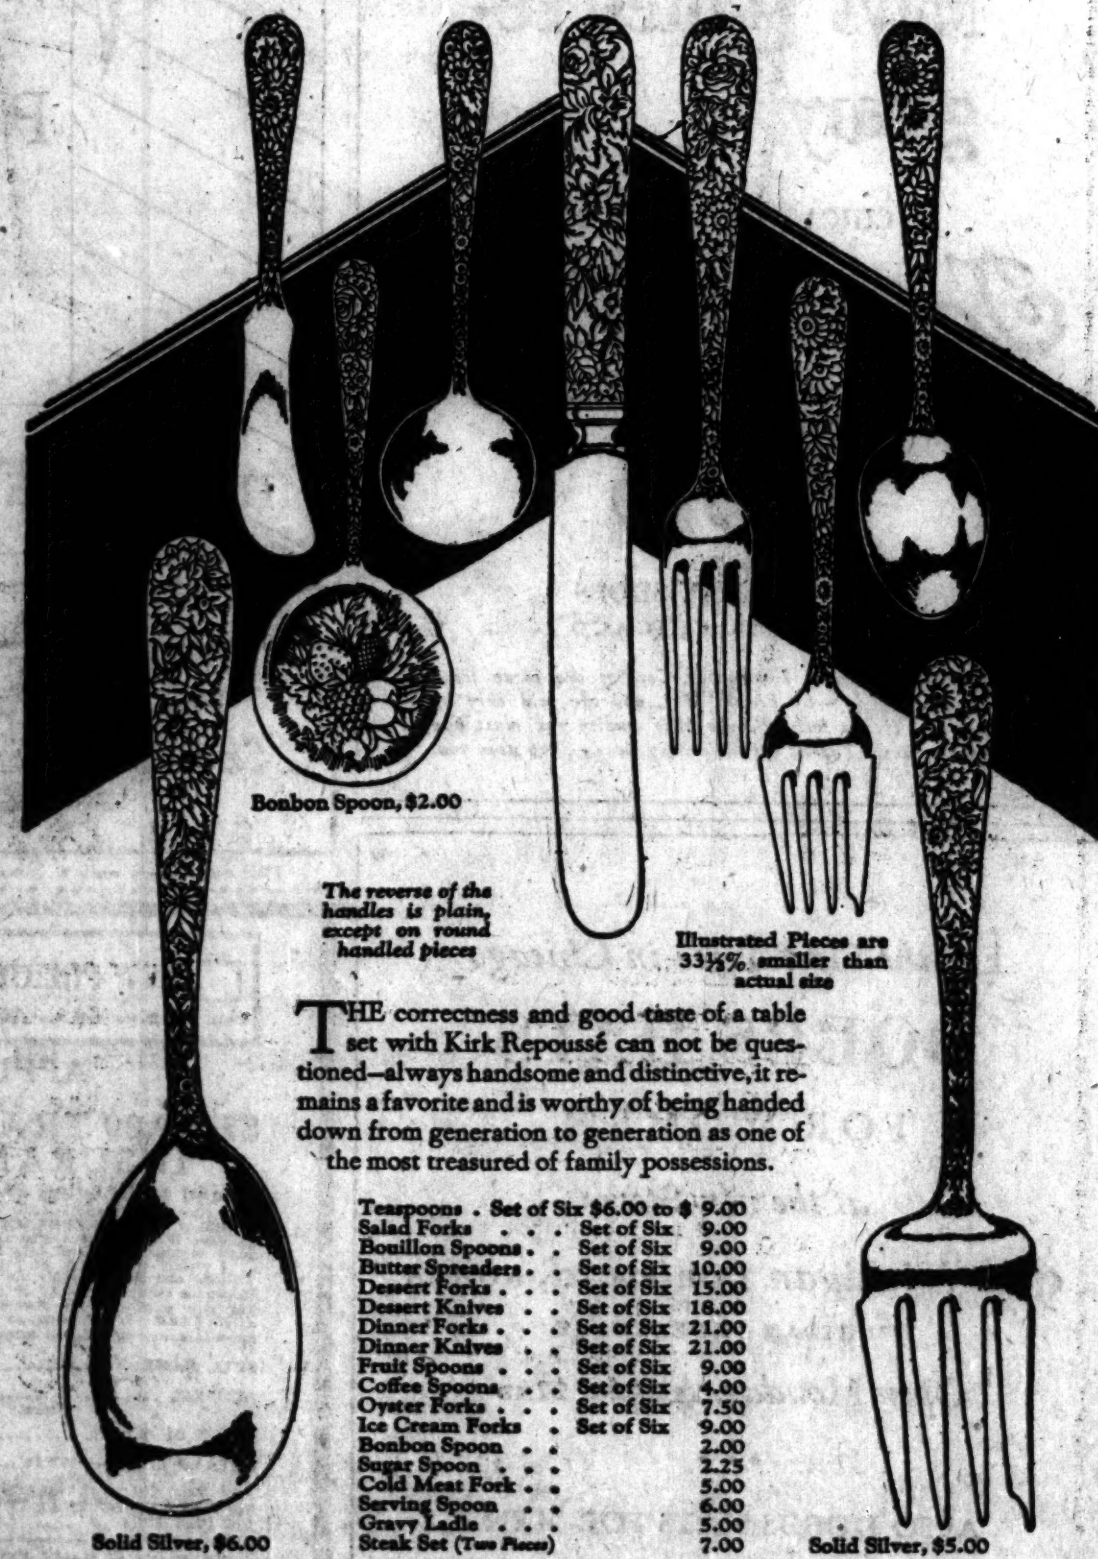

Apply by letter only. Application in person will not be considered. Write as long a letter as you care to. It will be read in confidence, and an appointment made for a personal interview later. Address applications to L. R. Northrup, Erwin Wasey & Company, 344 Rush St.

The Human Element

The superior service received by Illinois Central suburban patrons is a human as well as a mechanical product. More than 1,000 men and women devote their full time to this service, using with great skill the modern facilities with which they are provided.

Three hundred men operate the trains. These men are carefully selected and thoroughly trained. They are required to pass frequent examinations on physical fitness and on the rules of the service. They are a group of experienced veterans—the youngest motor-man assigned to a regular run has fourteen years of Illinois Central service to his credit; the oldest has forty-two. These men are proud of their reputation for courtesy and are eager to assure the safety, comfort and convenience of patrons.

Perfection in every detail of the service is the goal of the entire suburban organization. Increased patronage will facilitate progress toward that goal.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

WITNESSES ROBBED OF $15,000 IN RESORT HOLDUP

Chicagoans Are Among Victims in Wisconsin.

For the second time in a week Chicagoans were victims of a summer resort robbery yesterday when four patrons of a resort at Elkhardt, Wis., just south of Green Bay, were robbed of $15,000 in money and jewelry. The robbery occurred at the Edgewater hotel at South Elkhart, Mich., and after kidnapping the patrons and tying them to a fence near

WONDER WHAT TO DO WITH RAZOR BLADES? HERE'S THE ANSWER

Solved! An international problem.

What to do with used safety razor blades?

"Build a cottage for Chicago Junior school boys and girls from the sale of them," says Mrs. Bion J. Arnold, one of the vice presidents of the institution, which is located one mile north of Elgin on the Fox river, and which provides a home and school for underprivileged boys and girls.

Those inclined to help are urged to send their used blades to the Chicago Junior School office at 163 North State street.

with loot valued at $30,000. Authorities believe that the same men may have perpetrated the Elkhart Lake robbery, as members of a band organized to prey on vacationers in the Chicago district.

Score of Patrons Lined Up.

According to Deputy Sheriff A. J.

Michals of Sheboygan county, 50 or more patrons, several of them from Chicago, were grouped about a table of roulette wheels in the Wisconsin resort early yesterday when the quartet entered with drawn guns.

"Line up, there," ordered the bandit leader as he motioned towards the wall with his revolver. The group complied in haste. The robbers then proceeded to strip the victims of their cash and valuables.

Mr. and Mrs. Magill King, said to be connected with the firm of King & King, owners of nine chain stores in Chicago, were among those searched, the deputy learned. Mrs. King was alleged to have saved several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry by dropping the trinkets from a window to which her back was turned.

Rings Are Taken.

Andrew Roth, owner of a Chicago cleaning and dyeing concern, was forced to give up $200. Michals was informed. His wife is said to have lost three diamond rings worth $1,500. Bert Hirsch of Chicago was robbed of a ring valued at $1,500.

More than $2,500 was taken from the tables where it had been raked in by the croupiers, Elmer Johnson and Joseph Smith. Peter Langlot, the proprietor, was said to have lost a pair of valuable rings. The remainder of the loot was collected from the other players.

Deputy Sheriff Rudolph Falls of Sheboygan, upon hearing of the robbery, recalled that two automobiles passed him on a county road at 1:30 a. m. going at about 60 miles an hour. Both cars bore Illinois license plates and were believed to be headed for Chicago.

Says He'll Take the Car; Does It with a Gun

S. S. Kilday, a salesman for an automobile agency at 6513 Cottage Grove avenue, found a willing prospect yesterday. A man who gave his name as S. W. Spencer of 5430 West 64th street asked for a demonstration.

While Kilday was driving him around he suddenly announced he would take the car, drew a pistol, and forced the salesman out. Then he took the wheel himself and drove away. The police found that the address given by Spencer was fictitious.

TWO KILLED BY SPEEDING AUTOS; DRIVERS HUNTED

St. Louis Man Dies in Crash at Waukegan.

Two deaths in Chicago yesterday were due to automobile accidents in which the drivers, after striking the victims, sped on without trying to learn the extent of their injuries.

The deaths raised the total in Cook county caused by motor crashes since Jan. 1 to 573.

John Parakevopoulos, 52, of 953 West Harrison street, was struck early yesterday morning near his home. He died a short time later at the Mother Cabrini hospital. The driver, who was said to have been speeding at 60 miles an hour, is being sought by the police.

Woman Is Victim.

The other victim was Mrs. Beata Rea, 54, of 1853 South Wabash avenue. She died at St. Luke's hospital of injuries suffered Saturday evening, when she was struck at 16th street and Wabash avenue.

Fred Drach, 44, of St. Louis, was killed when he was struck on the Belvidere road, near Waukegan, by a car driven by Stanley Redner of 1815 Sunnyside avenue. An inquest was held last night and a coroner's jury absolved Redner of blame for the death.

Ethel O'Neill, 4, of River Forest, was possibly fatally injured when she was struck at Harlem and Chicago avenues, River Forest, by a car driven by W. Woodard, 715 North Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park. She was taken to the Oak Park hospital and Woodard was held by the police.

Three Men Injured by Auto.

Three persons were injured early yesterday when they were struck by an automobile as they waited for a subway car at Center and Clark streets. County Club Balloon Breaks from Moorings

Abraham Nahin, president of the Biltmore country club at Barrington, Ill., asked a watch for a 12 foot diameter red and white balloon, the club beacon, that broke from its moorings yesterday and floated away in the strong southwest wind. He said the bag contained enough gas to carry it from 2,000 to 3,000 miles.

SURROUND HOTEL IN SEARCH FOR PAIR OF BANDITS

Police of the Woodlawn station and the detective bureau yesterday afternoon surrounded and searched four floors of the Mansfield apartment hotel, 6434 Cottage Grove avenue, in the hope of finding two robbers said to have fled there after taking $445 from Mustapha Hage, owner of a lingerie shop at 6239 Cottage Grove avenue, and two friends who were with him.

Hage and his friends, M. Jada and Alpe Jada, were forced into a rear room by the bandits. The doors were locked after they had been robbed, but they escaped by breaking a glass pane. Running into the street, Hage called the attention of the police to two men walking south and asserted they were the robbers.

CITY OWNERSHIP OF CAR SYSTEMS URGED BY LEAGUE

Members of the Municipal Ownership League of Chicago, in session at musicians' hall, 175 West Washington street, yesterday went on record as opposed to granting any further franchise in Chicago to private owned companies, declaring in favor of municipally owned street car systems as the entering wedge toward purchase by the city of all Chicago public carriers.

Gov. Small was commended for his attitude against a special legislative session unless the proposed traction legislation be submitted first to a referendum and approved by Chicago voters. David A. McVey of the labor union, was chairman of the meeting, and Raymond Q. Keefe of the Street Car Riders' league, was made secretary.

Youth's Rule

in skin care to keep that schoolgirl complexion By NORMA SHEARER

BEAUTIFUL complexions MAY be guarded easily if one will only learn this simple beauty rule. Today thousands credit it with added charm and loveliness—keeping that schoolgirl complexion. Yet of itself it is simple and economical, unlike most "rules" for skin care.

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Then rinse with warm water, and follow with a dash of cold.

Do this regularly, and especially at night, for one week. Note how much better your skin. Use powder and make-up all you wish. But never leave them on over night. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little good cold cream. That marks the modern idea in beauty culture—the proved formula for keeping "that schoolgirl complexion."

But be sure you get the real Palmolive. A soap made solely for the purpose; to guard your skin. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Its results are proved by countless schoolgirl complexions everywhere. Get Palmolive now. Use no other on your face. Experimenting with unproved soaps is a folly. Good complexions are too precious for that. The Palmolive-Test Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

SENATOR DAILEY WEEKS ATTORNEY GENERAL OFFICE

Expect Many Small Aids
to Support Him.

BY PARKE BROWN.

State Senator John Dailey of Peoria, who announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for attorney general of Illinois, expects many small aids to support him.

Other candidates for this place on next year's state ticket have been named; but the politicians say that Dailey is the most significant that has appeared so far. In their minds the question is just how much Small support will be thrown to the Peorian. They feel certain that many elements of the administration forces will support him even if Gov. Small does not.

See Organized Support.

But they are just as certain that when entering the race Senator Dailey satisfied himself that Small will declare war against him; and, if that is true, the wisecracks say, the senator starts out with the likelihood of being really organized support than in sight for either State's Attorney or V. Smith of Lake county or Charles W. Hadley, former state's attorney of Peoria county.

Such the latter have been identified clearly with anti-Small activities, so much so that their friends expect nothing from the governor except hostility. Col. Smith conducted the grand jury investigation into charges of jury tampering in the Small-Sterling-Curtis conspiracy case. Mr. Hadley was one of the assistants who handled the civil suit against the governor under Attorney General Brundage and it was to his hands that Attorney General Brundage entrusted that case until it had been won in the Supreme court and up to the time that negotiations were begun for the $650,000 settlement.

One of Small's Counsel.

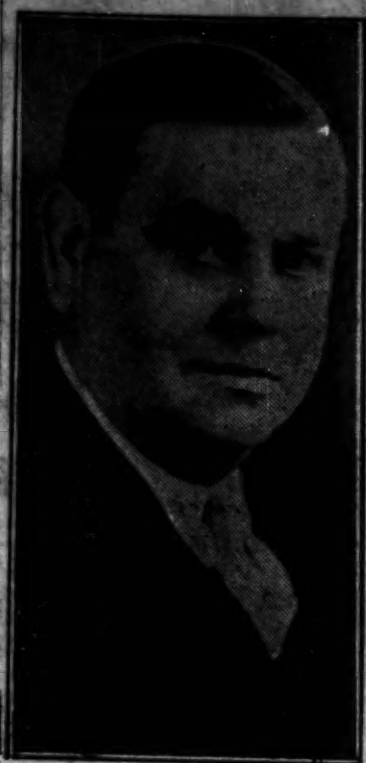

Senator Dailey, on the other hand, was one of the governor's counsel in the famous interest case, and while not bowing down to executive dictation in legislative matters, he always has remained on friendly terms with the governor and at times has taken the lead in senate matters in which the governor was interested.

Senator Dailey last spring introduced and argued at length in support of a resolution for the reappointment of the state in conformity with the constitution.

DAILEY BY EVANSTON LANE.

H. W. H. 1881 Lake street, Evanston, res. 1881 of 27 pres. day when a lone hand, varied him in the grass at the top of his home.

1,700 TRAINING IN AVIATION ARMY SUMMER CAMPS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—More than 1,700 air corps reserve and National Guard officers are being trained in the various army aviation training camps this summer. It was announced by the war department today.

The 8th corps, of which San Francisco is headquarters, leads the number in training. The 6th corps area, with headquarters at Chicago, has the second largest enrollment. A total of 270 reserve, 46 National Guard and 20 R. O. T. C. students are undergoing training at Belleville and Randall, Ill., and Camp Grayling and Silt-ridge field, Mich.

"Great strides have been made during the last year toward the permanent improvement of reserve flying," Acting Secretary of War F. D. Sturges said today. "No effort should be spared to keep the flying efficiency of our reserve officers at the highest possible standard."

"We have about 1,600 reserve officers, but only 654 of these are rated as class A pilots. This percentage is much too small, but it can be augmented only by increasing the opportunity of reserve officers for flying practice."

PROFESSOR TELLS FARM NEED FOR CITY CONVENIENCES

"America is not threatened with a farm peasantry like Europe," Prof. Walter Burr of the Kansas State Agricultural college, Manhattan, said yesterday morning at the Hyde Park Congregational church, Dorchester avenue and 56th street, where he spoke.

"Nevertheless," continued the professor, "the farmer does not want to be called a 'Rube' or a 'Hick,' nor does he want to be considered fit only for a life of drudgery at low pay. He wants the same conveniences city folks have, furnace heat, electric power, bathrooms, water pressure on all floors, and everything that goes with these improvements. They are willing to have their 'faced turned toward the city,' but they do not want their faces rubbed into it."

"This advantage to the farmer may cause city people to pay more for their food, for the farmer cannot buy conveniences unless he has a larger profit, but the farmer's rights are as imperative as those of the city dweller."

Chinese, Possessor of Mysterious Capsules, Dies

A Chinese identified by papers in his pockets as Lam Tai of 444 Mott street, New York, who was taken unconscious from a train at the Dearborn station on Saturday, died yesterday at the county hospital. About 100 capsules found in his effects were turned over to Federal narcotic agents to determine whether they contained opium.

ONE SHOT, ONE DEATH BY RAILROAD. Carl Hansen, 22, of 10846 Indiana avenue, was shot in the leg early yesterday morning when he rushed over his train as he was leaving a restaurant at 18th and Dearborn streets. At about the same time Andrew Sabatino, 36, of 2027 DeKalb street, was severely beaten by three men who attacked him in front of 518 South Western avenue.

ROWS ENDANGER G.O.P. SUCCESS IN SEVERAL STATES

Bitter Primary Scramble Follows Coolidge "No."

[Chicago Tribune Staff Service.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Pre-convention contests in prospect in so-called doubtful states are beginning to give Republican campaign managers cause for concern over their effect in 1928 election results.

Elimination of President Coolidge as an active aspirant for re-nomination has assured factional quarrels in numerous states where his candidacy would have kept rival groups from airing their differences.

Bitterness aroused within the party threatening defections on election day may be a factor, the leaders fear, toward swinging important states into the Democratic column.

Democrats in Row, Too.
Even the certainty that the Democrats will have their own factional troubles does not entirely allay the disquietude which has arisen among Republicans since the President made his famous announcement.

Instances of some Republicans that President Coolidge be drafted as a candidate is regarded as a reflection of fears that party ranks will be torn open in such a way as to endanger success at the election.

By keeping alive a Coolidge boom, Republican chieftains recognize it will be less difficult in some states to name uninstructed delegations to the national convention. With uninstructed delegations the leaders will be presumably in a position to make their deals quietly in the convention.

Where instructed delegations are not feasible it is expected that there will be a tendency to bring out favorite son candidates.

In New York, where governor, Al Smith, may be the Democratic presidential nominee, the Republicans have a real problem on their hands. With Coolidge as a nominee the Republicans say they surely could carry the state against Smith. They think the same might be true with Charles E. Hughes. Accordingly, they are talking of having their state convention this fall declare for either Coolidge or Hughes, which would be notice to the others not to start a row.

The leaders find themselves perplexed in New Jersey, which always is a debatable territory. Hence some of the political powers are talking for Coolidge and advocating an uninstructed delegation while others are bringing forward Senator Edge.

In Pennsylvania, the withdrawal of Coolidge will tend to add fuel to fac-ional fires already at white heat on account of the fight to deny Vane a seat in the senate.

Rival G. O. P. Candidates.

Massachusetts, which elected a Democratic senator last year, would be assuredly Republican with Coolidge, its own favorite son, as a candidate. With local political conditions affected by the actions of Gov. Fuller in the Bacon-Vansett case the Republicans are not particularly hopeful about the outcome.

In states where prohibition is an acute issue, as in Maryland, the Republicans fear that no one except President Coolidge could win against Al Smith.

Ohio, which is considered one of the pivotal states, has a badly confused situation as a result of the Coolidge action. Speaker Longworth would like to be regarded as a favorite son, but he is too wet to suit Senators Fess and Willis and the Anti-Saloon league.

Walton Boon a Ruse.

Indiana, with its Republican organization somewhat the worse for wear by reason of Ku Klux Klan scandals is another state where the candidacy of President Coolidge would greatly improve election prospects. The boom for Senator Walton as a favorite son, is interpreted as being designed to head off a Hoover-Lewis primary conflict.

Controversies among Republican groups in Illinois, it is conceded, will be intensified by the withdrawal of Coolidge. If Al Smith is the Democratic nominee the Republicans expect the Democrats to make a big drive for wet votes in that state.

THE ARCHITECTURE OF CHICAGO HALL

The county architect, Eric Hall, has announced that his fee for designing and supervising the construction of Chicago hall will be 8 per cent of the cost of the building. The county has voted $15,000,000 for land and building; and as it is not unlikely that the land will be donated, and all the money spent for construction, the fee may be as large as $900,000. Associated with Mr. Hall in designing the convention hall will be six Chicago architects who are making no charge for their services. Mr. Hall says he is prepared to pay them up to $10,000 each for expenses.

This arrangement appears to have the provisional approval of influential members of the citizens' committee and county board as well as of the architects concerned, but interviews with them suggest that there is still considerable vagueness in their minds regarding the arrangements. Under the circumstances the county board ought not to authorize the preparation of designs until the terms are more thoroughly understood and approved by architects and other responsible opinion.

The choice of an architect for the building is admittedly difficult one. Political and professional ambitions are involved as well as an unusually large fee. What the community wants is a beautiful and expressive building and the size of the appropriation for it is the measure of the city's desire. There are few public buildings as costly in this country outside of Washington. We had hoped that the architect might be selected through a competition entailing the best designers in the world. For reasons which have not been made clear, this method of selection, which once was accepted in principle by the president of the county board and many members of the citizens' committee, has been dropped. The decision may have been a wise one, but, if so, the reason for the change ought to be made plain.

Chicago hall must be located conspicuously near the center of the city. It will be built on the heroic scale. It will dominate an entire section of Chicago and its beauty or lack of it will be constantly in the eyes of citizens and strangers. The site of the hall in the hands of a great designer can lend dignity to the hands of a second rate, also will only accentuate errors of taste. Proportions which in a smaller building might not be noticed will be accentuated in this building into gross ugliness. A hasty or ill considered choice of the architect or a choice born of political or personal interest may produce a worthy design, but the chances are heavily against it.

Every man who is concerned in the choice of the architect has been honored and rewarded by the community; we believe it is not asking too much to suggest that they owe in return a completely disinterested selection based solely on architectural ability.

CHINESE CHAOS.

The Tribune's correspondent at Peking, Mr. Dalley, has given our readers another of his remarkable pictures of actual conditions in China. He describes in his article published yesterday the shocking anarchy of Shantung. In one region of this great province, which ought to be one of the most prosperous in China, banditry runs riot. The civil war, with its fluctuating fortunes, keeps its ranks filled with desperadoes. On the different armies, and the armies themselves as they pass through the country, are the signs of lawlessness, looting, rape, and murder make life a terror.

We of the western world envisage the Chinese situation in the large frame of the military and political movements. We watch the line represented by the Kuomintang, or self-styled People's party, as it moves across the map. We read the dubious reports of successes or defeats of the northern or southern; of Feng, the so-called Christian general; of Chang Tiao-lin, the Manchurian war lord; of Chiang Kai-shek, and lesser commanders. But we cannot fill in the picture with the details of human misery, save now and then when an observer like Mr. Dalley brings them home to us. The internal condition of China is in many regions a tragedy of human agony on a huge scale which would stir the imagination of the civilized world if it were realized. But our picture of China is not of these human realities. It is a picture of foreign political and economic oppression which is exaggerated and distorted, and keeps our eyes off the essential evils of the Chinese situation which are created by the Chinese themselves. What are the worst injustices which Chinese spokesmen, borrowing the jargon of European radicalism, charge against the foreigners in China, compared with the cruelties and oppressions worked upon the Chinese by the Chinese?

The radical wrongs in China are Chinese, not foreign. If the Chinese will make peace among themselves and establish a responsible government of any kind, the inequalities of the treaties and of the extraterritorial regime can be and would be soon corrected. But internal chaos continues, with, so far as we can see, no progression toward stabilization. The movement of southern nationalism toward the north has been checked beyond the Yangtsze and broken by factions within. For a time it promised at least a unified reorganization of China, though its relations with Moscow suggested a troublesome future. At present it is regarded as a dead end. The various factions of the north, which are now in a state of anarchy, are not only a perpetuation of Chinese personal politics and warfare, are contending for mastery of the Yangtsze valley. The hope for stabilization must be found indeed and the theory that China cannot recover unity and peace without foreign intervention gains ground. It is not a solution to be welcomed, for it involves responsibilities and difficulties no nation or group of nations can well afford to assume. They are so great that it will not be attempted until Chinese conditions are even worse than they are now, and meanwhile it is only possible to hope for some unexpected change for the better. The flooding of China with anti-foreign propaganda has made it virtually impossible to give aid at this stage.

LINDBERGH'S "WE."

Through the sky Saturday afternoon came "We." Out on the Pacific coast three aviators lay dead and their companions in the race to Hawaii were forced to postpone the start. A woman flyer fell into the Hudson. In Europe anxious airmen awaited favorable weather over the Atlantic.

Aviation, despite progress, is still the sport of the seeker after dangerous adventure. Recent air disasters and delays make the triumph of "We" still more daring and they emphasize points about flying, especially long distance flying, that often are lost upon the layman.

Skilled airmen do not underestimate the hazard of their calling. While an uncomprehending public wonders why they hesitate, they are content to wait on the whims of an element that they alone are able to know has not yet been tamed.

We groundlings ponder over the elaborate rituals with which the days and weeks and often months of testing for stability and climbing power and maximum load. The airmen know that injury and death are the result of carelessness and haste.

Lindbergh and his ship are "We." That is why he could fly the Atlantic and, more than that, keep on flying with confidence since he returned home. His ship has been proven sound, his motor sturdy. Out on the coast something failed. Lindbergh gambles with the air; he gambles bravely but not rashly.

"We" will keep on traveling through the air, confidently.

A PENNANT FOR CHICAGO.

Given any sort of even break the Cubs should bring home the National League pennant and win the chance for a try at the national championship. Chicago is an enthusiastic, loyal baseball town; it has deserved a pennant for quite a while. The Cubs have the look of being about to deliver.

Irv Vaughan probably knows the inside dope about the miracle which turned the Cubs into a pennant racing team. To us outsiders it looks like the natural enough result of a piece of good business strategy by the same ability that made gum chewing popular. William Wrigley Jr. found out that the Cubs didn't perform so long as he sized actively in his club's management. Thereupon he did the executive thing of picking the right man in McCarthy and letting McCarthy boss the job.

The result speaks for itself and fandum lauds executive, manager, and a rejuvenated team of players.

P. S.—We wish Mr. Wrigley would apply the same executive genius to running his clock. Wanted—An horological McCarthy.

IN LINE OF DUTY.

The recent arrest of Mr. Francis Sullivan, a rising young man in the prohibition enforcing service, calls attention again to the duty of the public to protect its conscientious servants. Mr. Sullivan was unquestionably conscientious. He found it difficult by himself to obtain evidence of bootlegging, but he refused to accept defeat. By rigid self-examination he came to the conclusion that his appearance was not such as to win the confidence, readily, of the bootleggers. With energy and imagination he addressed himself to the task of devising a means of buying liquor from the unwilling to sell to him. The solution of the problem was a young lady, Miss Wallen, who consented to accompany him from place to place in the interest of law enforcement.

We are in some doubt as to Miss Wallen's status with respect to the United States government. Our impression is that she was not on the payroll if she was, we feel certain, her honorarium was ridiculously inadequate in relation not only to her needs but to her services to the cause. Mr. Sullivan felt the situation keenly and acted with characteristic decision. When Miss Wallen had helped him obtain evidence of violation of the Volstead act, he had the violator locked up. While the wretched if only alleged bootlegger was in jail waiting to be bailed out, Mr. Sullivan, so the police say, would break into his home and find him whatever wearing apparel and trinkets seemed likely to keep Miss Wallen warm. On this charge both Mr. Sullivan and Miss Wallen have been arrested.

We hope the matter will not be allowed to rest there. It is plain that Mr. Sullivan was living up to the spirit if not the letter of the code of his corps. He knew the many persons arrested for bootlegging are not punished, though they all ought to be; and his deed was, therefore, broadly speaking, in the interest of justice. It was a means of punishing the wicked and rewarding the virtuous, all at one stroke. Technically, it may be admitted, Mr. Sullivan is liable to trial in the state courts for robbery; but we feel confident that the prohibition department will not allow so faithful a servant to be subjected to trial in unfriendly surroundings for an offense that is merely technical. There is ample precedent for transferring the case to the federal courts, where the defense may be directed by the district attorney of the United States, able counsel, no doubt, than any whom Mr. Sullivan could afford to retain.

Editorial of the Day

INDIANA CHALLENGES THE LEAGUE.

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

The action of the Indiana Supreme court in finding the two Anti-Slavery league officials guilty of contempt causes that state to become the first in the nation to challenge the omnipotence of the league and its divine right to drive roughshod over constitution, courts, and laws.

The career of one of these convicted men, the Rev. S. B. Shumaker, superintendent of the state branch of the league, is really the history of prohibition in Indiana. Though a member of the clergy, he even formed to form an alliance with D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Klan and now serving a life sentence for the murder of a woman. Out of this alliance came the Wright bone dry act, a measure of almost unbelievable oppression and one which has made the name of Indiana suggestive of petty tyranny, espionage, blackmail, and corruption.

How to Keep Well

THERE IS ONLY ONE CAUSE OF MALARIA.

R. M. A. FORT gave the Georgia State Medical association the following excellent summary of some phases of the mosquito malaria situation. Almost every statement he made applies to every section of the country where there is any malaria. What he says about the malaria mosquito does not wholly apply to other mosquitoes.

"Numerous people have told me about curing malaria from eating fish caught in stagnant ponds, chewing sugar cane, drinking bad water, eating rotten ended watermelon, green scum or drying up of ponds, night air, flies, etc. Some prominent physicians have been known to carry their patients to put down deep wells, as the water from shallow wells produced malaria.

"Malaria is not caused by bad water, air or food. Nothing causes malaria but an animal being having as definite a mode of existence as a bolt of lightning. This parasite is put in by a mosquito and by nothing else. It lives in only two places in the world—in the human blood and in the mosquito. It does immediately if placed in water, so it cannot enter the drinking water. It cannot live in any food, so it cannot be carried by patients to put down deep wells, as the water from shallow wells produced malaria.

"A mosquito must be over ten days old before she can transmit malaria. This is the basis of Le Prince's excellent method of preventing malaria by destroying all the mosquitoes in the house daily. Malaria is not transmitted in the winter in Georgia, but the parasite lives in the blood of uncured patients. If a patient is cured and a house in which the mosquitoes can be found hiding in the dark places in the daytime, or if the larvae of the mosquito can be found in nearby ponds, it is also possible to prevent malaria by destroying all the mosquitoes in the house daily. KING BEN'S CASE, IN 11TH WEEK, IS NEARING ITS END

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—When Judge Louis E. Fied returns court here tomorrow in the Ben case, the beginning of the end of the state of Michigan's suit to dissolve the House of David colony will be at hand.

Tomorrow's developments are expected to indicate the extent to which defense counsel feel their case has been damaged by the sensational admissions made on the stand yesterday.

by Benjamin Farnell, founder and leader of the cult. His statements were in direct contradiction of those of his wife, Mary Farnell, and other colony members.

Will Ben come to court to allow Prosecutor George Nichols to continue the cross-examination? If he comes, will he continue to repudiate "Queen Mary's" testimony? Or will he plead inability to be present, and escape further grilling? These queries are agitating the twin cities, St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

He declared that when he went to demand payment for a cover design the trio beat him.

The New OLYMPIAN

A new epoch begins in transcontinental travel

The MILWAUKEE ROAD

THE railroad world has long waited for a new impetus in passenger transportation. And now we have started it with the introduction of the New Olympian—new in invention, finest in equipment from wheels to ventilators of any transcontinental train that has ever been put on the rails!

The New Olympian brings hotel comfort and conveniences, anticipating the desires of sophisticated travelers—while transporting them at racing speed over the most modern transcontinental railroad, electrified for 660 miles to shipside at Seattle and Tacoma.

Designed to compete on equal terms with the smartest cafes, it has the advantage of drawing supplies fresh and crisp from fruit orchards, farms, ranches, mountain lakes and the ocean. Perfectly delicious meals!

The highest developments in railroad engineering make this train practicable. The finest skill of the master builders has put it in a class by itself above any other transcontinental train. The perfect taste of noted interior decorators has given it a charm and delightfulness that no one has heretofore expected except in exclusive clubs or private yachts. The service is the famous "Milwaukee service"—un-surpassed! Maid service; valet; barber; baths.

Electricity is the servant of the New Olympian all the way from Chicago to the sea. It serves every need from cookery to ventilation. The New Olympian moves on roller bearings —unbelievable smoothness of motion. Coil spring mattresses in lower and upper berths.

If you are going west—to Gallatin Gateway or the Pacific—by all means take this great train. It is a distinct innovation in transcontinental travel! No extra fare.

COURT TO DECIDE VALIDITY OF GAS TAX THIS WEEK

County to Name Road
Committee Today.

Decision by the Circuit court upon the validity of the gasoline tax law is expected this week. It was indicated by Judge John C. Newhall at Aurora yesterday. The case was argued before Judge Newhall and Judge William J. Fulton at Geneva, Kane county, last Tuesday, when the Chicago Motor club petitioned for an injunction against the state authorities now collecting the tax.

"The time of handing down the decision will be announced tomorrow morning in Circuit court at Geneva," Judge Newhall said yesterday at Aurora. "I cannot state at this moment when that will be, as I have not come to a conclusion with my associate, Judge Fulton, on that point. But it is likely that it will be ready this week."

Cermak and Hayes to Confer.
President A. J. Cermak of the county board has arranged for a conference with Charles M. Hayes today, at which the special citizens' advisory committee personnel will be announced. The committee, of which Mr. Hayes is to be the chairman, was decided upon by Mr. Cermak last week as a means by which a number of problems which have arisen in the county board in regard to the highway widening program may be met.

The county has $15,000,000 provided by bond issue to expend for highway building and pavement widening. The money was voted last November, but the governor failed to sign the enabling act of the legislature until in June, causing a delay to actual work that was continued by the disclosure that paving contractors apparently were endeavoring to charge the county unreasonably high prices for road building.

Plan Highway Convention.
Notice of a highway convention to include representatives of all portions of Kane county has been issued by the Chicago Motor club, to take place on Thursday at Geneva. The aim of the meeting is to crystallize sentiment in Kane county for the extension of widening operations through Du Page and Kane counties of Roosevelt road and the other radial highways reaching out from Chicago.

An effort is being made to get representatives from each township and village and city in the county together with the aim of presenting a solid front to the state highway department in a demand for a 40-foot artery in place of the present 12-foot pavement on Roosevelt road from Chicago to the Du Page county line. The state is now widening that highway from Chicago to a point about a mile west of the Du Page county line. Bids have been asked for a 20-foot pavement from the end of the present work to Lindley road in Du Page county, which it is understood will parallel the present pavement.

Expense Randolph Project.
The proposed reclamation of West Randolph street as a thoroughfare, which would involve the doing away with the produce market west of Des Plaines street, has aroused interest further west. The Chicago plan commission and board of local improvements have been appealed to open the portion renamed West End avenue, between LaSalle and Lovell avenues. In the event of this section being opened and the eastern sector being cleared of market vehicles, a much needed traffic unit to the west would result, it is contended.

"Having read in THE TRIBUNE of the move to use Randolph street for traffic instead of parking," writes H. H. Merrill, 112 North Mason avenue, "I want to add that Randolph is a through street with the exception of two blocks, 5500-5600 west, and Garfield park. By using the new Warren avenue boulevard it would make a through street for traffic equal to Washington boulevard, and its extension through Du Page county would carry traffic to the far west."

FARMERS FIND COMPETITION IN DANISH CO-OPS

U. S. Delegates Study Aid by Government.

BY DAVID DARBAH.
[Chicago Tribune Staff Service.]
COPENHAGEN, Aug. 14.—The American farmers here to study farming methods today discovered that the highly organized cooperative marketing of Denmark does not eliminate competition.

It came as a surprise to them to learn that while Denmark has 1,600 cooperative dairies, the produce of these dairies is not handled by a single joint marketing agency, but by several, each of which receives bids and competes on price against the other. The same applies to the bacon co-ops.

This gave them the general conclusion that one cannot get around the economic laws and that whatever form farm relief takes it is impossible to eliminate the competitive factor.

The farmers witnessed a radical demonstration against American Consul E. Talbot Smith at Hamburg. All expressed their indignation today at the protest business.

How Government Helps.
Western dirt farmers, who came to Europe expecting to find state subsidies, were disappointed today on learning that direct state aid in Denmark consists of the following:

1. An appropriation for agricultural attaches abroad.

2. An export subsidy of $,000,000 kroner ($1,940,000) for export guarantees and loans.

3. Reduction of railway freight rates.

on certain agricultural produce destined for export.

Support for agricultural colleges and experiment stations.

Credits in the form of government guarantees against the loss of export shipments were begun only a year ago.

Edmund P. Cahill, director of the American Farm Bureau federation, thinks that the farmers, as a result of their study here, should work more closely with labor organizations.

Mr. Cahill sees a chance for the farmers effectively to supply the cooperative societies formed by labor unions. He suggests beginning with the locomotive engineers' organization, which has banking facilities.

Mr. Cahill sees a chance to effect a great saving to farm organizations through wholesale cooperative buying of fertilizer, farm machinery and equipment.

SEVEN 25 WOMEN IN 4 HOURS.
Chicago avenue police made four raids early yesterday on alleged disorderly houses. Twelve women and fifteen men were taken into custody. The raids were at 259 Orleans street, 1120 Milton avenue, 55 West Grand avenue, and 470 West Huron street.

HELPS POLICE PURSUE FUGITIVE IN AUTO, SLAIN

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Bending over the wheel of his machine, which he was driving at top speed to enable a policeman to overtake a fugitive car, Samuel Golden suddenly sagged forward, dead from a bullet above the heart.

When Golden died Amsterdam avenue was echoing to a fusillade of police shots, and an investigation is scheduled tomorrow at the district attorney's office to determine whether a ricocheting police bullet might not have brought death to the man. James Morton, a Negro, was held for homicide, however, on the police charge that he fired the shot from the pursued car.

HEAD COOLIDGE VIEWS IN JARDINE ARTICLE ON FARM

Secretary Still a Foe of McNary-Haugen Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Farm Service.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—Disclosure that the administration is still standing pat in its opposition to the equalization fee and price fixing features of the McNary-Haugen relief bill is made in an article written for the Farm Journal by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and made public here today.

Secretary Jardine reiterates the administration's plea of last year for financial aid for the cooperative and asserts that the government "should help farmers to help themselves by adjusting their production to an orderly market, to adjust production to demand as far as possible and to reduce price fluctuations by some workable and safe means of handling surpluses."

Advocate Better Merchandising.
The agriculture secretary sums up his arguments with the assertion that legislation should be passed which will also to increase the net income of farmers, by improvement in the production and merchandising of farm products and by a better adjustment between agriculture and other fields. He declared that this country's agricultural policy "should aim to provide in the country opportunities equal to those offered in cities for persons of comparative ability."

Secretary Jardine's article does not contain the draft of a farm bill and no mention is made of the President's views on farm relief, but Mr. Jardine's views are interpreted here as being substantially those which the administration will support in congress.

The guiding principle of Secretary Jardine's plan is that of having the government make loans to farmers' organizations to enable them to control crop surpluses and prevent prices from falling to ruinously low levels.

Federal Board, Revolving Fund.
A federal farm board, armed with a revolving fund sufficiently large to aid farmers' cooperative stabilization and marketing agencies in taking crop surpluses off the market, thus insuring a better price, is the chief cog in the machinery which the administration would have incorporated in farm relief legislation.

My position on government and co-operation," Mr. Jardine states, "is that the government should help farmers to help themselves. Success depends on the willingness of the farmers to organize on a large scale and to adopt strong business policies. The government cannot have the farmers a plan and expect it to work without effort on their part."

Sundstrom Trio Selections Win Elmer's Praise

Two Violins and Piano
Give Clear Broadcast.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
The Sundstrom trio's portion of the WMAQ 7 to 8:30 program makes a fitting beginning for this morning's review. Their opening selection, Handel's Sonata No. 3, in four movements, was fascinating for its delicate Bach-like airs and pristine clarity. This was followed by Schumann's opus 10, in five sections, by Brahms's heavy and thick-toned selection. The succeeding numbers I did not hear in full. It is worthy of note that the two violins and piano combination produces a higher and brighter sound in the air, and it was played brilliantly last evening.

The New York Philharmonic orchestra concert, held in the College of New York "great hall," WJZ-KYW, 7:30 to 9:15, was tremendously impressive. It was played with dash and brilliance, and for which Pierre Monteux, guest conductor, must be given credit. Monteux's "Don Juan" overture, new to radio, will probably remain so, due to its intricate complexity. Beethoven's Eighth Symphony is also new to radio—what a pity! It is so full of delicate touches, of intensely rich tonal colors and rich harmonies. Even Beethoven was partial to it. It was fairly danced in the air, and it was played brilliantly last evening.

The after-noon session opened with selections from Berlioz's dramatic symphony, "Roméo and Juliet." This work, I believe, was the initial introduction of Berlioz to the Chicago radio audience. This example was alternately slow, stately, sonorous, and the complicated and intricately beautiful for radio broadcasts at present, although the New York audience's applause was tremendous.

The stamping of the entire program was Debussy's three "Ethereal" images for orchestra. This ultra-modern, wild, and exotic descriptive fantasia ran a gamut of moods, from the most beautiful and airy to the most dramatic and stormy. The closing "Petit Polonoise," by Chopin, was a beautiful and charming piece, but not half as effective or enjoyable.

BURY CURWOOD TOMORROW BY PARENTS' GRAVES

Orion, Mich., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The body of James Oliver Curwood, author and conservationist, who died late Saturday night, after a week's illness, will be laid beside that of his father and mother in the graveyard here.

My Son Donald, aged 7, was playing bandit, and for some time had been staggering around as if badly wounded, without actually toppling over as a victim of the imaginary bullets of his playmates.

Charles had gone with his mother for a trip through Colorado and his first day out he decided to send his father a postcard showing some of the sights he had seen.

He wrote on the card: "Dear daddy I paid five cents for this card, so that will show you how much I love you."

As if my correspondent is worrying about her husband or some other woman's husband falling for her call, and ice cream, let her fears be set at rest, providing she can keep her husband interested for a bit longer.

For the benefit of young women in business, let me add that any time you want to spring parties around the place during the daytime, let the other fellow be the ring leader. Don't you be the coin collector or the program maker.

Take Her Advice. "Dear Miss Blake: I go with a fellow and like him a great deal, but my mother does not want me to go with him because he is a foreigner. Otherwise she likes him. Should I go with him or listen to my mother?" "PATRY B."

As your information about the boy is vague, and because I believe mothers have their daughters' interests at heart, I should suggest you take her advice, since she knows him.

It is an excessively silly vanity that leads a girl to believe she can in- gratiate herself into advancement by stunts other than efficient workman- ship. For a time, unfortunately, she may prosper or appear to be progres- sing, to the chagrin of the women who pursue the less exciting course of un- interrupted work. But there comes a day when perspective upon her posi- tion as an employee is lost and some fatal move made that results in a politi- cal tick of leave. It will happen to this

DEATH NOTICES

DEATH—Mrs. Mary Kasson, 5408 Eastview Park, died Sunday at her home. She was 69 years old. She was born in Buffalo, N. Y., and came to Chicago as district manager for the Barlow Asphalt Paving company. In 1924 she became president of the Conway company. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Cornelia Kreamer and Mrs. Mary Owsen.

BURY CURWOOD TOMORROW BY PARENTS' GRAVES

Orion, Mich., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The body of James Oliver Curwood, author and conservationist, who died late Saturday night, after a week's illness, will be laid beside that of his father and mother in the graveyard here.

My Son Donald, aged 7, was playing bandit, and for some time had been staggering around as if badly wounded, without actually toppling over as a victim of the imaginary bullets of his playmates.

Charles had gone with his mother for a trip through Colorado and his first day out he decided to send his father a postcard showing some of the sights he had seen.

He wrote on the card: "Dear daddy I paid five cents for this card, so that will show you how much I love you."

As if my correspondent is worrying about her husband or some other woman's husband falling for her call, and ice cream, let her fears be set at rest, providing she can keep her husband interested for a bit longer.

For the benefit of young women in business, let me add that any time you want to spring parties around the place during the daytime, let the other fellow be the ring leader. Don't you be the coin collector or the program maker.

Take Her Advice. "Dear Miss Blake: I go with a fellow and like him a great deal, but my mother does not want me to go with him because he is a foreigner. Otherwise she likes him. Should I go with him or listen to my mother?" "PATRY B."

As your information about the boy is vague, and because I believe mothers have their daughters' interests at heart, I should suggest you take her advice, since she knows him.

They Wouldn't Believe

By Roy Vickers.

On the way to Donald Briery's home at Robinson for luncheon, Connie Kershaw, Donald's sister, told her that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half of the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father. Connie and Donald have a flat in London. Connie is in love with Donald but is not pleased as Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Donald and Connie, soldiers handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to get Donald Briery of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting, Connie's father, who is a friend of Harrowby's, decides to visit her and let her know that he is not a crook. He tells her that he is a crook and that he is not a crook. He tells her that he is a crook and that he is not a crook.

INSTALLMENT XLIV.
HARD AS NAILS.

Oliver arrived at the office too early and for half an hour or so pottered about, shortly before five she was in the reporters' room when Carthew, the assistant news editor, came in.

"Where's Kershaw?" he asked of a knot of men.

"The old boy sent him on the Blackmore case," answered some one. "He won't be back for an hour yet."

"Well, while we're waiting for Kershaw, some one had better go down to Robinson and do a small descriptive," said the news editor.

"I know Robinson," Carthew had not previously noticed her and he turned to her, his face lighting.

"You're the man I want, Miss Weston. You seem to have heard of Robinson, too. Well, look here—our 'local' has phoned. Murder, you see? I want you to touch that. Mr. Kershaw will cover that. I want a small descriptive—house and garden—how the chap stands with the neighbors."

"No one knows you are really a pet by me," said Oliver.

Oliver—whether he was the local tennis set or so—in fact, all the small stuff you can get. Don't interview the police but see everybody else who looks likely. Get it?"

"Thought stood still, Oliver wanted to scream with laughter. But he managed to control himself through.

"Yes, all except the house and who murdered who."

"The chap's name is Briery. The house—Oaklands, Lovelace road, Robinson. The police had a search warrant on suspicion and they've found a body in the garden. They haven't got Briery—they expect to get him this evening. You needn't cover that. There's been a civil case about it—the murdered man—"

"You're hard as nails—Donald himself said so—you'll come through this without a tremor," Oliver was saying to herself. To Carthew she rapped out:

"Yes, I read it. No mistake about the body in the garden, I suppose?"

"No. Everything plain as a pikestaff. Papers taken out of the clothing but identification proved by documents found in the book. But that's not for you to get the house and the man."

Donald! She must get to him somehow. The dead body of Turle found in the garden!

"The train service to Robinson is dead rotten. Can I take one of the omnibuses?"

"I didn't know you could drive."

"Why, I told you I was a chauffeur before you gents helped me to a Henry career!"

Carthew looked doubtful.

"No, you had better not. It won't matter your being a bit late. Kershaw may want a car and several have gone out already."

In the next few minutes Oliver did little in the way of conscious thinking. Impulses drove her while a clear purpose grew steadily in her brain.

First she started to a call box and telephoned to Maureen house.

"Is Mr. Briery there, please?" she asked. "He was visiting Miss Weston."

There was a delay which came perilously near to breaking her nerve before she received the answer:

"Mr. Briery has just gone—not five minutes ago."

"Thank you," said Oliver and out off. Then she ran to the garage of the Daily Herald and accented the foreman in charge.

"Mr. Carthew says you're to give me the best runabout," she said. "Tell me one to get it out while I'm signing, will you?"

Hard as nails! There was nothing in her brain now but that single impulse to get off.

"You gals, you're always worse than the men!" grunted the foreman.

"You can have the No. 7 Ford. Go on, jump in," said Oliver as she leapt into the driver's seat.

Pretty Flimsy Stuff This, but Acting Saves It

And Lois Wilson Still Is a Good Girl.

"THE GINGHAM GIRL." Produced by F. R. O. Directed by David Kirkland. Presented at the Midway Theater.

Lois Wilson... George R. Arthur... Mary... The Gingham Girl... A story of a girl who is a good girl...

BY MAE TINES. Good morning! You exaggerated words who have so recently advised comment in this column on the performances of George R. Arthur, can turn over now and take another nap. For Auntie Mae thinks your darling is simply fine in this production.

As far as the picture itself is concerned, it is just too novel. But this isn't remarkable, for how can a film adapted from a musical comedy—and this is anything else? No chance.

So you have in "The Gingham Girl" a movie possessing little sense and, at times, no continuity, but which gets by on the strength of its acting. SOME OF THE BEST OF WHICH, is done by young Mr. Arthur. This time, praise be, he is a village clown instead of a city cream puff, and as such he puts over some very good comedy indeed.

Lois Wilson, who left Paramount to get away from "good girl" roles, is doing business right at the old stand again. Meaning she never WAS a "goodie" girl than she is as sweet Mary Thompson, whose home made cookies win national acclaim in the course of six reels.

Miss Wilson goes to the city, sell her cookies. Mr. Arthur goes... also, for a different reason. The plot couples itself irresponsibly with the activities and adventures of the two and the various folks with whom they come in contact.

I didn't see the stage show so can't say if the picture resembles it. But the screen "Gingham Girl" is pretty flimsy stuff.

Sally to Take Her Next Guests to See Grant Park Rodeo

BY SALLY JOY BROWN. How do you like our next party, girls and boys? Won't it be a great afternoon, watching the best cowboys and cowgirls in the country competing in the world's championship rodeo week from Thursday?

It's going to be one of the best events of the summer you know, not only because the best riders are in it, but because of the champion bucking bronchos and wild steers we'll see.

We'll see all the sports of the old time west at their finest—and when you think how we all like stories of cowboy life, a chance to see its champions in action is something none of us wants to miss.

You have only three days though, to win invitations, so you'd better start your letters now. All you have to do is tell me why you'd like to come, and the hundred girls and boys who'll enjoy the rodeo most will get the invitations.

Be sure, though, that you give your street address and your age. Then next Thursday morning I'll pick the winners, and their names will be in next Sunday's paper. So start your letters right away—and we'll look forward to a wonderful time a week from Thursday!

OUR SECRET AMBITION. Lillian Gish will again be directed by D. W. Griffith, who "made" her, in a film to be produced by United Artists. Miss Gish is now at work on "The Sign of the Cross" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, with which company her contract expires shortly. It will not be renewed.

French Wives of Americans Hold Citizenship

Law Aids Women Who Are Married Abroad.

[Copyright: 1927. By the New York Times.] PARIS, Aug. 14.—New French nationality laws have been drafted to meet the exigencies created by American legislation.

Today a French woman marrying an American is no longer a woman without a country.

The law, says, in part: "A French woman who marries a foreigner preserves her nationality unless she demands expressly a desire to acquire, in conformity with the national laws of her husband, the nationality of the latter."

"She loses her nationality if she demurs following marriage to French domicile of France and if she does not acquire the nationality of her husband in virtue of the laws of the latter's country."

"Any French woman who may have, previously to this law, married a foreigner, may, if she has resided habitually during two years in French territory, recover her French nationality by a declaration before a justice of the peace in the year of promulgation of the law."

"During the duration of the marriage this faculty cannot be exercised except with the authorization of the husband and if the conjugal domicile be fixed in national territory."

"Nevertheless, these two conditions will not be required in case of the absence, disappearance or legal incapacity of the husband—in the case of an actual separation—if the couple have been living apart for a year, or if the separation or divorce has been pronounced."

In all other circumstances the woman must qualify for citizenship like any foreigner, but it should be stated that the latter need to French nationality is not exceedingly rough.

YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN

McGraw-Hill's
"Shake Hands with the Lady."

"PROUD JONES, you earliest of the little girl, Sally, this is mother's friend, Peggy—just think, I know your mother when she was just as big as you are."

Sally tucks her head down, wriggles against her mother's skirt, and looks out of the corner of her eye at her mother's friend.

"Sally, look up and say how do you do to Peggy. Shake hands with mother's friend."

Not so Sally. She drops her head still farther and puts her hands behind her. Sally's mother leans over and whispers coaxingly to Sally. Sally doesn't answer at all.

"Don't bother her any more," says Peggy—but you can see the warmth of interest for her old friend's baby die out of her eyes.

Peggy Jones, the mother of three herself, began to realize that perhaps she had built better than she knew with her own children. Without much pondering—more or less, instinctively—she had trained them as the outcome of a natural courtesy which she herself possessed, to meet people and greet people.

When they were introduced, her children looked up at the person they were meeting, said, "How do you do Mrs. Brown or Capt. Smith," and shook hands. She expected it of them just the way she expected them to say, "Thank you" and "Please" and "May I be excused from the table?" They did it easily and unselfconsciously and, except when they were very little, without being told.

Manners like that are really a child's right. When he grows up, he is a credit to his parents. He is able to lead into such manners suddenly after a child's age of three or four. It becomes second nature to him. And the only pleasing manners are those that are born of the child's own nature. It's a valuable and sensible lesson to teach him for another reason, too. We want him to lead the world a friendly place, and he's made introduced to some one he puts out a friendly little paw, looks at the person, and says, "How do you do, Mrs. Black?" than if he ducks and wriggles with embarrassment.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Pan Cake Variety.

Since we have learned to use pancakes from the first to the last of the year, there has come a new interest in cooking them. For the appetizer of a meal, pancakes are made small and thin for a spread of omelets. Other popular tiny pancakes are used with these tiny pancakes in making a sort of omelet, but it is the caviar that seems to go best in this combination.

As for the dessert, a simple pancake recipe at this season of the year can be utilized for a satisfactory sweet. Perhaps a blueberry pancake. All that is necessary to make this is to wash and dry the blueberries as thoroughly as possible, so the flour will not jump upon them—they must be floured in any case—and then to add a little sugar to the pancake batter.

Now, while we object to soggy pancakes with reason, on the other hand it must be remembered that a pancake is not like yeast bread. We may compare it in a sense to cooked macaroni, which it took our nation some time to accept for its great worth as a food. We did not like what seemed to us a heavy effort, but now we use it eagerly, as well as the noodle which is of much the same nature.

The little recipe we have recommended contains one cup of thick sour milk, one cup of sifted flour, a little salt, one egg and one-half teaspoon of soda. A tablespoon or two of butter may be added. The sour milk may be beaten up and combined with the flour and left over night, or they can be mixed just before baking. At any rate, the egg and soda must be added just before that. This is excellent when baked in cakes no larger than what one tablespoon of batter makes.

One way to fail with these is to have extra butter on the griddle, which has been slowly heated. Without any shortening themselves, baked on such a griddle pancakes are likely to curl. It is always best to grease a griddle and then wipe off every bit of surplus so that it is more like a bread pan prepared for baking bread.

"Mrs. Transfer."

I was on my way downtown and with transfer in hand I stopped in our back at the transfer corner to draw out some money for shopping. In my breathless hurry, I handed the teller a transfer in lieu of a check and did not realize my mistake until she said she was grinning and handed it back.

To make matters worse, when I had made out a check the transfer was so on my mind I signed it, "Mrs. Transfer." I have never been as embarrassed as I was that morning. F. H. S.

"In the Window."

The other day the dog house man called, and asked if we had a dog. Not having the money to pay the license we did not. He seemed persistent, and wanted to know if I was sure I didn't have a dog.

Imagine my surprise as I again started to tell him no when I looked around, and saw Mr. Dog, himself, standing in the window looking out at the man.

You can rest assured that this surely was my most embarrassing moment. F. M. G.

The New York Times

New York, Aug. 14. (Special.)

The violent downward adjustment of prices on the stock exchange, first from the news of Mr. Coolidge's withdrawal from the candidacy and next on the collapse of one highly speculative "Wall Street" pool, has inevitably drawn attention to certain peculiarities in the economic position.

It has become evident, many weeks ago, that the stock market was not reflecting either the visible indications of trade activities or the general economic picture of the autumn outlook. Yet at that time the exchange prices, even as measured by the average, were lower by 15 points or more than the present month's high level and 40 points below the highest of last August.

The rapid and tempestuous rise in July was manifested above all on three assumptions, conscious or unconscious. First, that continuance of easy money would continue to support the stock market. Second, that the very large distribution of profits to stockholders in July would be followed by a similar distribution in August. Third, that the accumulation of capital in this country foreboded a similar accumulation of capital in other countries.

Expectation of easy money was borne out by the event; the federal reserve reduced its official rate from 3 1/2 to 3 percent. The expectation of a similar distribution of profits was also borne out by the event; the federal reserve reduced its official rate from 3 1/2 to 3 percent.

Wheat Market Outlook. Its response was entirely logical, insofar as the stock market's function is to reflect conditions of the immediate present and the past. When, however, the question arises as to the office of forecasting and the future, a definite and serious intervention.

Trading in grain futures was greatly increased, wheat sales aggregating $1,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000 over the week and compared with a total of $1,000,000 for the week ending July 29, 1927.

European crops are not expected to be any larger than last year, although the harvest is said to be recent large crops. Should anything happen to the European crop, it would be a disaster for the United States.

News from the corn crop continues to be disappointing. The government report for the week ending August 14, 1927, shows a total of 1,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 1,000,000 bushels from the week ending July 29, 1927.

WHEAT ADVANCE
CORN, OATS UP
FOR THE WEEK

BY CHARLES MICHAELS

Increased activity with wide fluctuations and a sharp reaction, with an advance of 1/4 cent on wheat futures over the last point of the previous week, with corn up 1/4 cent, and oats 7/8 cent, were dominating features of the grain trade last week.

On wheat, the advance was due to a report that the government was planning to increase the loan on wheat to 100 cents, a move which would be a fair indication of the government's policy.
